

It's MOMMY-MANIA at HALO and we need your help!

We're reaching out to, YOU, our amazing HALO supporters for help. The cost of veterinary care is higher than ever and the adoption fees cover less than 30% of our expenses to get them ready for new families. We now have several cats and dogs nursing their babies, along with several other cats and dogs who will need extra medical care and surgery.

Here's how you can get involved!

Help us with the additional costs to get these furry friends "adoption ready." You can sponsor the cost of some or all of their care. It all helps! When you make a donation you can specify which pet you'd like your funds to help or you can have it go to the general medical fund.

Sponsor Pixie and her 2 pups

This tiny girl came to us from a partner shelter. She went into labor and her second pup was too large to come out on her own. So she went to the emergency room for a c-section. She's in foster care recovering with her puppies. Help us build our emergency medical fund back by helping cover her care. Estimated cost $4400

Sponsor Luna

This beautiful puppy came to us from a partner shelter. She was born with a heart defect and requires heart surgery. She has been diagnosed with severe valvular pulmonic stenosis, mitral valve dysplasia, and right-sided congestive heart failure. Her treatment plan includes balloon valvuloplasty, along with lifelong medications and a special diet. The estimated cost of treatment is $7,500.

Sponsor Snowflake

This happy fella came to us from a partner shelter. He is allergic to certain food proteins and environmental allergens. Bloodwork has been sent to the lab to determine what he is allergic to so we can ensure we have the best treatment plan to cure his itch. Currently, he is on medication, a special diet and receives soothing baths on a weekly basis. Cost of his treatment to date is $600.
